'I REMEMBER CHRISTMAS'

Six Clergymen Reminisce. Memories have a way of joining the festivities at Christmas time. And as Princetonians in 1963 made ready once again to celebrate the holidays, memories of Christmases past evoked earlier occasions, some happy, some sad, which coincided with the usually happy time of year.

Six of Princeton's clergymen looked over their shoulders this week at memorable Christmases in their own lives. This is what they saw.

One man who'll never forget his wedding date is the Rev. Dr. Orion C. Hopper of Hillsborough Presbyterian Church. He was married on Christmas Day 41 years ago, in Brooklyn.

"I don't know what my bride wore" he says, "but I do remember how she looked the first time I saw her. She wore a velvet Alice Blue gown. She had red hair in those days and blue eyes."

"In fact," he reminisced happily, "Julie was one of three redheads singing in the Methodist choir."

"Well, I remember," says Mrs. Hopper, still pretty 41 years later. "I wore a blue silk dress at the wedding!"

World War II. Three of the clergy spent wartime Christmases in widely varying circumstances.

"We were strafed about 10:45 on Christmas Eve," recalls St. Paul's pastor, the Rev. Edward C. Henry. "Our company was at a small French town, near Nancy."

Then 33 years old and the only chaplain in his company, Father Henry had won special permission from the brigadier to hold a midnight Christmas Eve mass. Blistering gunfire from the German planes roaring overhead shattered all thoughts of Christmas as the men scrambled for safety.

"I finally held mass about 2 a.m.—in a church that seated about 450. Under the circumstances, it was jammed!"

He adds, "I still get cards from the men at Christmas."

Christmas, Georgia Style. "The worst Christmas I ever knew was the time I was picked up as a 'suspicious character,'" says the Rev. Albert Tyson Jr. of Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church. "It was in Columbus, Ga., in 1943."

He reflected, "The whole thing was simply because of the attitude of the police down there towards the Negro. I was in officers' candidates school at the time. I had Christmas leave, but I couldn't get home. So I was going along in my uniform when they picked me up. The police wouldn't let me contact the officers at the base . . . I couldn't get any help from anywhere."

The Rev. Mr. Tyson went on. "There have been many happy Christmases, too. I remember the surprise of my first Christmas as a pastor. It was in Madison, N. J. People came by that Christmas Eve and rang my doorbell. They went off so fast I didn't know who it was—but they'd left gifts by my mailbox."

Death Camp. Another clergyman was in a Japanese prison camp on the River Kwai at Christmas 1943. The camp was one of several crowded with British prisoners of war. The starved, disease-wracked POW's were dying at the rate of 64 men for every mile of the 250-mile railway they were forced to build through the Kwai valley.

Some 2,000 emaciated prisoners gathered at 11 that Christmas morning. Dean Ernest Gordon of Princeton University Chapel, then a captain, was among them. Under conditions which defy the mind, the worship service had developed from a growing rise in morale.

"We were singing the closing hymn, 'Good Christian Men, Rejoice,'" Dean Gordon relates, "when we heard the seldom-used air raid siren . . . Overhead came a four-engine bomber, flying in the direction of Bankok.

"More lustily than ever, we sang 'Rejoice'"

The plane was their first symbol of hope, seen at their first devout Christmas. It was followed, through the ingenuity of a POW cook, with the first decent meal in two years."

The Wreck. His wife's close call with death on Christmas Eve comes back to the Rev. F. Hugh Liffiton, a New Zealander now serving as pastor of Second Presbyterian Church. She was a passenger on a night-time express which ran on the 500-mile main line between Wellington, in the south of New Zealand, and Aukland.

"Errryone was going to Aukland to see the Queen," the Rev. Mr. Liffiton relates. "There were many young people and families. Everyone was very jubilant!

"Suddenly, as this big train was roaring along in the high country, a wall of ice on a crater lake cracked and crumbled. A torrent of water came down, sweeping the railroad bridge away—but leaving the steel rails intact.

"It was 10:27 Christmas Eve. The train came flying through the night—and one-by-one the carriages went over into the turbulent, seething, muddy water. A few carriages at the end of the line were saved by the brakes."

He paused for a moment. "My wife, who wasn't my wife then, had gotten off at a stop just before this happened. She gave her seat to a personal friend."

"I remember waving goodby to her," Mrs. Liffiton says. "She was in one of the carriages that were lost. So many people were drowned!"

"And the horror of it hit all of New Zealand on Christmas morning," she went on, "as people got up and turned on their radios. In a small country like New Zealand everybody had friends or relatives on the train."

FORTY-ONE YEARS LATER. the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Orion C. Hopper recall their Christmas Day wedding. "We'd decided on Friday night to get married on Christmas—and there was no time to shop," Mrs. Hopper remembers, "But Orion was being considered for his first church, and they wanted a married man!" A Future Can Be Assured with Your Help

(From the 1963 Town Topics Christmas Appeal)

"There is every reason to believe that Christmas, 1963, will be a new starting-point for wonderfully courageous Mrs. T. and her two appealing children, 15-year old Peggy and Tony, age 12. Some six years ago divorce came to the T. household and this mother, now 43, alone shouldered the responsibility for re-building her children's world. These three together were winning their uphill battle when Mrs. T. fell victim to tuberculosis. For three tortuous years the mother was institutionalized, dollar resources dried up, and Peggy and Tony made their home with grandparents in their 70's.

"The step-by-step return to normalcy from 36 months in a sanitarium was anything but easy. A tiny apartment was found and furnished, financial easement was arranged, a skilled counselor guided Mrs. T. through her gnawing fears "that I might have to go back." After six months, with Peggy and Tony regaining their buoyancy and once more participating in the hill in school life, the doctors have given Mrs. T. a clean bill of health — and permission to work. With continuing oversight, there can now be a future for three who want only to share one another."

TOWN TOPICS' Fund seeks year-round assistance for Princeton area families such as this. Case histories of other years testify time and again to the lasting good achieved by gifts sent in response to the appeal, with all expenditures made directly by the Family Service Agency. The amount received to date is $1810.05, and the need is greater than ever before.

Checks should be made payable to the TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund and mailed to P.O. Box 664, Princeton. Cash contributions may be made at TOWN TOPICS, 4 Mercer Street.

Two Views. Four Christmas mornings at the St. Barnabas Home for Incurables in upstate New York come to mind for the Rev. Dr. Robert R. Spears Jr., rector of Trinity parish.

"The men in the home were indigent and incurably crippled or diseased. They would come to the service on crutches, stretchers and in wheelchairs. After the service, there was always a big party. Those men had no reason to be happy about anything, but the joy of the parties was marvelous!"

And he remembers an ill-fated Christmas: "I was pastor then in Mayville, N. Y., up in the snow country.

"After Christmas Eve services, 12 of my congregation came out of church to find their cars smashed up. Seems a drunken Driver had come roaring along the icy road. He'd careened from car to car.

"I don't know when I've ever seen such irate parishioners!"

Teenager. Most families make a great deal of Christmas, but the Rev. Kenneth S. Dannenhauer of Calvary Baptist recalls a teenager rebellion against such family solidarity.

"My parents took Christmas very seriously. We had wonderful Christmases when I was growing up. But I remember one time, when I was a teenager in Camden, that a couple of us decided on Christmas Eve to go to Atlantic City. We wanted to see the Christmas decorations on the boardwalk.

"My parents very reluctantly agreed to this. So we went, and the decorations were NOTHING! I got home late, slept most of Christmas Day. Not only did I have a horrible Christmas myself, but I had ruined my family's day.

"It was, I guess, my first major experience," he mused, "in the value of belonging."

School Sale Friday

Mrs. Sarah K. Strayer, Bryan V. Moore and Graham Rohrer, president, will represent the Borough Board of Education at the public sale of Nassau Street School Friday. Bids will be heard at 11 a.m. in the board rooms at the high school.

Initial advertising brought in 40 inquiries, which boiled down to between 10 and 20 actively interested people. An advertisement placed on December 8 brought 11 replies, some as far away as Florida.

Professor Robert Lively of Princeton University disqualified himself from serving as a school board representative at the sale. The university is expected to be a bidder.

TOWNSHIP SAYS "NO"

To School Subdivisions. Princeton felt this week the full, harsh consequences of its failure to recognize itself as a single, organic community.

"Consolidation" has been just a word to many people, a concept which is invariably being studied by some committee or other. But this week, the need for consolidation suddenly became real.

The Township Planning Board at a special meeting on Monday night disapproved both subdivision plans for the Walnut Lane land where the Borough Board of Education wants to build its 1,000-pupil school.

Everyone involved has talked about "cooperation." But the Township Planning Board is an official body in one municipality, the Borough Board of Education is an official body in another.

The Borough Board wants to build its school on land which lies wholly in the Township. The Township has its own Master Plan for roads that bound or bisect the land in question.

Communication? In the two years since the Borough Board of Education first announced its plans, Borough-Township communication has been fitful and frequently unproductive. Since mid-October of this year, all communication has been on Township initiative. From the first, the Borough has relied heavily on public relations and announcements through the local press rather than on Borough-Township discussions.

The Township Planning Board, on its own decision, waited until after the Borough's crucial October 15 referendum to release its policy statement on the need for both Franklin and Guyot avenues lest the statement prejudice the vote.

On the other hand the Borough School Board would not agree to repeated Planning Board requests for thorough traffic surveys, including origin-destination studies. Westminster Choir College, meanwhile, has been caught in the Borough-Township gears.

Consolidation does not automatically mean efficiency without personality conflict. But if a single, organic community had been operating through its various agencies to build a much-needed school for the whole town, the present hacksawed situation would not exist.

The Township's Case. In a 700-word statement issued Monday night, the Township Planning Board explained why it turned down both the Bradley and the Westminster Choir College subdivision plans. (The Borough Board of Education was technically not involved since it doesn't yet own either piece of property.)

The statement cited the school board's reluctance to have Guyot Avenue cut through and the Choir College's insistence on having Franklin Avenue closed.

These positions were made made known at the public hearing on December 9, the statement says, but "no expert testimony was offered. In response to inquiries concerning utility connections and feasibility, traffic circulation, pupil pick-up and discharge, off-street parking, Guyot and Franklin Avenues and alternatives thereto, and financial implications, the school board maintained that these matters could be taken care of in the future as the project progressed, and that the school board could be trusted to do the proper thing."

The school board submitted a site plan on December 9 which shows building locations and off-street parking for 63 cars, "but fails to indicate proposed utility connections, building set-backs, number of classrooms, types of facilities, exterior access or any interior traffic circulation or control."

Sewers, Sidewalks. Frank Quinby, Township engineer, prepared for the Planning Board a 16-point memo analysing the deficiencies in the two subdivision plans. One of the most important of these concerns sewers.

"Since there are drainage problems and capacity limitations of the sanitary sewer in this area, a comprehensive plan of the entire area should be submitted," Mr. Quinby stated. He also pointed out technical omissions dealing with lot frontage, sidewalks, rights of way and so on.

Therefore . . . "In conclusion," says the statement, "The Township Planning Board finds that the applicants have failed to make a case for the closing of Franklin and Guyot or to overcome the presumption of the validity of those streets as parts of municipal master planning. The Board further finds that:

- Those streets, or some reasonable approximation, are essential to the handling of anticipated traffic.
- The subdivision applications fail to show plans for proposed utility layouts, as required by the Land Subdivision Ordinance.
- The lack of any proposed internal traffic circulation, or provision for the discharge and pick-up of pupils is detrimental to the public safety and welfare.
- The proposed off-street parking is less than that required by the Zoning Ordinance.
- The proposed school use in the Bradley subdivision requires special approval by the Township Board of Adjustment and that such approval has not been obtained.

- The paving of Guyot and the installation of a sidewalk along Walnut are required as subdivision improvements, and that they have neither been installed, nor bonded, nor provided for."

"The Board rejects the contention that the above-mentioned matters should be left to future solution."

"Such disapproval is without prejudice to further exploration of a solution acceptable to all," the Board says in conclusion.

"Orderly Retreat." In a fast move, William Miller, special attorney for the school board, called a meeting for this Thursday morning with the Planning Board and Choir College "to see if these matters can be resolved."

He reported to the School board on Tuesday night. "There are really only two major considerations. One, Guyot open or not — and we are prepared to live with this, if required. Our architect already has an alternate plan.

"Two, arrangements with the Choir College for alternatives for Franklin Avenue when it is vacated by the Borough."

"It's an orderly retreat," said Graham Rohrer, board president.

Mr. Miller told the board that "it would not be sensible to place any profound implications on the statement of denial."

Dr. Henry Abrams commented, "Many of us have had phone calls from people who ask 'does this mean the school will not be built?' "

"I would say that people needn't be concerned, "Mr Miller said. "The key to my optimism is that I have seen a very cooperative attitude on the part of all parties concerned."

"CREEPING ZONING?"

Township Says "Halt," Dr. Warren E. Dodson can go ahead and build his combined dental office and residence on Ewing and Franklin (in spite of the "no" vote of Township Committeeman Maurice F. Healy Jr.) but there will be no more home-office combinations in the vicinity until the Township re-examines the zoning ordinance.

Dr. Dodson will be the fourth doctor to have an office-residence combination in the Harrison-Franklin-Ewing area, all four having been approved by the Township Zoning Board

Committeemen, especially Mr. Healy and William Wilson, are afraid that this residential area will suddenly

Winter sports enthusiasts should have their choice of skating or sledding, the Man reports, what with temperatures well below freezing and the white flakes putting in occasional appearances.

Could be the skaters will get the better of the deal: the thermometer will be several degrees below normal for the next few days and snow will be only light and infrequent. For traditionalists, however, Christmas will be white.

PETER, PAUL AND ALMOND JOY: Peter Lawrence, Starling Lawrence and Jay Kerr in a scene from the hootenanny sequence in "Funny Side Up," this year's Triangle Club production.

News Of The THEATRES

NOT VERY "FUNNY SIDE"

75th Triangle Show Uneven. This season's Princeton Triangle Club presentation ostensibly turned its "Funny Side Up" at McCarter Theatre this past weekend. The result was an omelet of generally acceptable but often not-too-fresh eggs.

The show, mostly a review, switches its attack about halfway through the second act to become a kind of Triangle insider's community sing-song. In spite of the abrupt transition (so abrupt, in fact, that it seems as if this year's writers had suddenly realized they had run dry), the diamond jubilee musk-klatch is a pleasant rerun of some of the best music and lyrics from past Triangulations.

The first act and a half is a series of isolated, pretty obvious commentaries on such current cultural phenomena as space travel, Volkswagen snob-appeal, hootenannies and the Peace Corps. Some of the ideas below the surface of the presentation have merit, but in general they failed to reach the top because of unfunny puns (a chronic Triangle ailment that by now is exactly 75 years old), unexceptional music and unacute lyrics.

At its best, the writing is a faint carbon of some of Danny Kaye's minor moments. Elsewhere,it is stuff that only a Bert Parks would love.

On the Plus Side. A show without a book, without any really memorable songs of its own and without much of the sparkling wit that a review demands puts quite a burden on its coaching staff. It is, therefore, much to the credit of Director Milton Lyon and Choreographer Peter Hamilton that they have made tthe most of the thin material with which they are faced.

The direction and staging is imaginative and unpretentiously clever. The choreography is handsome and efficiently designed to accommodate the clumsy enthusiasms of the knobby-kneed chorusline.

The cast has at least three more-than-competent singers in it. Dan Deitch belts out "Progress is the Cause of All Evil" with abandon. Charles ("C.D.") Smith does a fine job on the inconsequential ballad, "I'm in Love Again." And Paul Pilcher is effective in "Mayne Jansfield" (see what we mean about puns?).

The costuming is vivid and the sets are simple but sufficient. In fact, there is so much potential available that "40 Characters in Search of an Author" might have been a better title for this year's show.

The nostalgic reprise of earlier hits shows that, in the past, stand-out melodies and lyrics were not as rare as they are in this year's production. And that's not based solely on the crotchtey opinion of someone who, like us, has been seeing Triangle shows pretty regularly since the early 'twenties. A current Princeton senior, in reviewing "Funny Side Up" for The Daily Princetonian, said it. But we agree.

LIGHTS FOR CHRISTMAS

A $25,000 Present. "From Us to You," it said on the tag. Actually there isn't a tag, but there is the tangible gift itself, and a brightly lighted one it is.

Princeton University has given McCarter Theatre a permanent, $20,000 lighting board. It is, according to everybody at McCarter, the most important single capital improvement to the theatre's technical facilities since McCarter was built in 1928.

The two-ton board made its appearance at the stage door last week. Technicians and electricians are even now at work on the wiring and the board will be ready for christening on December 30 for the first performance of "The Hollow Crown." Installation costs are expected to be about $5,000.

Gilbert V. Hemsley Jr., McCarter's associate producer in charge of all backstage and technical operations is delighted with the new present, and so is Charles Norton, production manager.

"We are finally catching up with lost time," Mr. Hemsley said this week. "For years, McCarter has had to import lighting boards to handle the requirements for any substantial production, as the theatre's original board has long since fallen into hopeless disrepair."

The new board comes from the famous Kliegl Brothers Lighting Company. Mr. Hemsley worked closely with the experts at Kliegl in planning the new layout.

in New York. "A flaming editorial," was the word from the Times' Howard Taubman. "Beauty, power and emotion," said the Trib.

Martin B. Duberman, professor of history at Princeton, is the arranger and "author" of the hit, which will come to McCarter Theatre for a one-night stand on Wednesday, January 15, at 8:30.

Dr. Duberman has taken excerpts from writings and speeches on the American Negro's struggle for freedom, and arranged them into a theatrical documentary.

"In White America" is part of McCarter's "January Jubilee," designed to keep the theatre warm until Shakespeare arrives in February.

Other events in January will be Jose Greco and his company of Spanish dancers, singers and musicians who will move in on Friday, January 3; two performances of "The Littlest Circus," a children's pantomime with music (kindergarten through fourth grade) to be given at 11 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Saturday, January 4; and Andres Segovia who will appear on Wednesday, January 8 at 8:30.

"SECOND CITY" BACK

In Benefit. The "Second City" company will return to Princeton on Monday, January 27, at 8:30 for a benefit appearance in McCarter Theatre.

Orlginating in Chicago, the Second City company has taken its vivid and pointed eomments on the current scene to maoy communities throughout the country. The Women's Division of the Princeton Jewish Center is sponsoring the appearance.

PLAYHOUSE

The Incredible Journey (through Monday) is the latest animal epic from the zoophilious film factory of Uncle Walter — Disney, of course. It's a delightful little story about three quadruped buddies who hike some 250 miles through the Canadian wilds together.

Bodger, a likeable old parenthesis-legged bull terrier, and Tao, a tirelessly bouncy Siamese cat, are billeted a long distance from home while their child-owners are away. With them is Luath, a Labrador retriever who is all paws.

All of a sudden the Labrador decides to head for home. Bodger and Tao take off with him, little realizing the length and difficulty of the trail ahead.

Three weeks on the road and in the bush and the wanderers accomplish both their and Uncle Walter's objective. Just in time for Christmas-time release at the Playhouse.

GARDEN

The Mouse on the Moon (through Monday), or more accurately Son of The Mouse That Roared, is a squeaker which gets away from such usually reliable cats as dew-lapped Margaret Rutherford and hyphen-toothed Terry-Thomas. As an outer space vehicle for their talents it never quite gets off the ground, and its earthy humor is as badly mixed as the metaphors we've used here to describe it.

The story, as you could easily postulate by now, concerns the successful attempt by the wee folk of Grand Fenwick to hit the moon with a manned space shot before Americans and Russians get there. This they accomplish with successful accuracy but excessful lunacy.

A few thousand light-years of film before they get there, however, the one-stage joke runs out of gas, and what might have been a telling satire on the space race becomes little more than non-orbiting flimsy whimsy. Someone back there in Operations Control should have pushed the destruct button.

PRINCE

8½ (through Tues.) is not as enigmatic a movie title as you might think. It merely signifies that Italian movie director Federico Fellini, factor of "La Strada" and "La Dolce Vita", has directed seven complete movies and segments of three others. It might have been more accurately called "8.457," but Fellioi, being more artist than arithmetician, chose to go with the "8½" approximatioo.

Clear? If not, let's get oo to the next question anyway. Is it a good movie? If you like Fellini, yes; if you don't no. "8½" is a wildly pictorial, do-it-yourself psychoanalysis, a kind of LSD-induced pleasure cruise down Fellini's stream of subconsciousness from ego to id an return.

Fellini admits: "All I can say is that it did me good to make it. It was a liberating experience." Most psyehoanalysis is, but its benefit is usually measured in direct proportion to its internal effect on the subject and not hy the degree to which it is put oo public view.

"8½" is clearly different from any movie you can name. And, in its differentness lie its unusual strengths — or weaknesses, depending solely on your own degree of identification with the subject.

NAPKIN UNDER THE CHIN

The Feast of the Year. This is the last of our five forrays into Princeton shops, a column devoted to geese hanging high, mulled wine simmering on the hearth and the pleasures of sharing a bountiful table with good friends.

In short, we end where you will begin — with a toast to Christmas and the bright New Year ahead.

If candy is dandy and liquor quicker, then cheesey is easy. Country Mouse, as if you hadn't guessed, specializes in a good, sharp cheddar, the kind wo would call "mouse-trap" cheese, if we weren't afraid of hurting the delicate sensibilities of C. Mouse.

Buy it for $4.95 in a five-pound cheese wheel, and just keep slicing it off all during the holidays.

In West Windsor, at the Princeton Junction Delicatessen, there's Fancy Emmenthaler Swiss in a big hunk, and on Witherspoon Street at the Food Mart, there are 60 different cheeses, including French Brie.

Princeton Gourmet's cheese bin is fathomless. We suggest a whole Cheddar (five pounds for $5.50), the Fromage Maison, Crema Danica (that's our favorite) and individual Grappes.

Of course, cheese assortments can be combined to infinity. One, for $6.95, has four pounds of cheeses all in one place: Holland Gouda, Italian Provolone, Danish Camembert, Sturgeon-smoked Cheddar, Brie, Norwegian Bifrost—well, you see what we mean by fathomless.

(By the way, the Gourmet, traditionally closed on Mondays, will be open for your cheese-shopping on both Monday, December 23 and Mouday, December.)

Wrapped to Give. The Nassau Del. likes to arrange things in neat baskets, ready to deliver like a May-basket. You may select cheeses for these gift baskets. Or, you may settle for the $8.75 wooden cheese tray with its Edam, Brie, processed spread and four wedges—one for each guest.

And while you're making up gift packages, consider the Del.'s suggestion of an Italian espresso coffee-maker, around $5, and the coffee to go inside. The shop also likes, for a cook, a spice collection from Twin Trees Gardens or Spice Islands.

Fruit is the package suggestion from Pennington Quality Market. Pineapples, avocados, specimen oranges—just give a day's notice and they'll fill your order. Baskets start at about $5.

Davidson's selects choice fruit, too, for the basket that will be someone's Christmas stocking.

Across the River. Over in New Hope, Pa. at the Bucks County Emporium, gift baskets are $5, $7.50 and $10, filled with cookies, exotic teas, canapes, pates, nuts, candies and cheese.

If you have a problem with the right gift, consider the Emporium's black walnut soup, the Coventry Forge Inn variety. This Valley Forge kitchen also turns out cheddar cheese soup, a mushroom consomme with Madiera, a clear consomme with claret and Soupe de Poissons.

And if soup isn't enough, why not try some of Emporium's pancake mixes? Cinnamon apple sounds wonderful for a wintry Sunday morning. Swedish — well, that could be good, too. Wild Rice speaks for itself, but what it "Old Fort?" Buy it and see.

The same kitchen (Reese) produces a cellar full of wine jellies, including a champagne one which still has the bubbles. (That's confetti, down at the bottom of the glass.)

In A Jam. Louise Maas, examing the treasures in her little shop, finds Scott of Scot-

The Proof of a Holiday Spirit

Each liquor store looks fondly at some special bottling, set aside for Christmas and New Year cheer. A fine wine? A venerable brandy? A saucy and inexpensive champagne? Whatever your choice, you'll find that the shops have thought of it before you.

Cousins. Stone's Original Green Ginger Wine from England, the recipe dating from 1740. Made of currants, it combines well with gin or whiskey. "Excellent for skiers and snow-shovelers," the shop says.

Wine and Game. Garnier French Liquers come in those delightful three-or-four-compartment decanters, designed in Paris. "Liqueur d'or," "Creme de Cacao"—you know the rest.

Varsity. A five-gallon chestnut wood barrel, a foot and a half high, holds Portuguese red table wine, to be decanted from a wooden spigot. Cradle included, for $18.70.

Princeton Junction Package Store. Tanqueray, a special dry distilled English gin, comes in a rocking holder, half a gallon of it.

Yeoman's. "Rock the boat and it won't turn over." That's the guarantee that comes with Old Kentucky Tavern's "Captain's Decanter" full of bourbon. A smaller pint size is a "Ship's Decanter." Put up the hurricane warning!

Claridge. Imported and domestic dinner and Christmas wines in "the widest selection we can corral." The choice is yours.

land preserves, only 20 cents a jar. (On a sixth-grader's allowance, you could buy at least two for grandma.) There's blackberry, ginger marmalade, gooseberry, each one just the size of a hot scone.

Pennington Quality thinks dates are just right for Christmas and follows through with date-nut rolls, treated to a toss in the coconut. Boxes of dates, with ivory pick, come in two sizes.

Those California fruits at the Nassau Del. are fine for people who don't care for candy. Prices range up to $5 for a sun-filled array, rich with juices and sugar, most collections packed in wooden trays. A round basket, $3, holds giant apricots from Australia, big as an Australian rabbit, they are.

Gourmet heats up the six-pack from Chalet Suzanne, with "Michon," "Romaine," "Clarisse," "Ventura," "Fromant" and "Mushroom." In another pack, there's a delightful Gaspacho.

PASS A SLICE

Cut a Cake or Cooky. Warming to the idea of hot tea and cookies, we consider Viedt's Fanny Farmer butter-cookies, rich as thick cream. Pennington Quality has Burry's Thin-Jer-Mint wafers "the thinnest ginger cooky ever made," and the Nassau Del. passes around those rich Belin cookies from France. Don't forget that the Del. has the Ilonig Pfefferneuse, the traditional honey spice-drops from Germany, at 95 cents a pound, piled in a big, deep barrel. What's Christmas without?

The Reine de Saba is a round cake with chocolate frosting, and a filling of candied orange slices, dates and Grand Marnier. There's no word for "calories" in French.

Rum cakes, dripping with the stuff, come out of a can on the Louise Maas shelf. The Holland cooky assortment is drier, packed primly into an antiqued silver box, or into a red-gold book labeled "Gourmet's Delight." Good to the last chapter. The Panatone, the Italian cake, by Motta is a Maas stand-by.

Moving reluctantly from the babas soaked with rum, we turn to Thompson's Irish fruit cake, liberally steeped in Irish whiskey. It's $2.75 for almost two pounds, at Louise Maas. It also comes without the whiskey, and in this guise it's called "Blarney," don't ask us why.

Full of Fruit. Barton's candy cook has been busy in another part of the kitchen, working on the 15 individual fruit cakes available at Zinder's for $2.79. His helpers make a rich, buttery Christmas cooky.

Students at Berea College make those fruit cakes everyone waits for at Country Mouse. Individual fruit-cakes are in this shop, too, but they are not Berea. They come from Mrs. Carver of Texas, whoever she may be. In any case, she packs the cakes with a rum sauce, and they are all ready to mail. Even back to Texas.

We like Gourmet's idea of miniature gingerbread boys: 24 toothsome little fellows for $1.59. Very short shortbread falls apart right into your tea-cup. A box of 18 is $1.79—at least the measure isn't short.

Both the Del. and Gourmet stock Charlotte Charles, the plum pudding and fruit cake girl. Pennington Quality and Davidson's stack the fruit-cake high, too, in many weights and sizes.

Pennington Quality has a gingerbread house, with frosting on the roof and a box to fence it in. Gourmet has "Honey House," like a gingerbread house with frosting and decorations. All of it is edible except the cotton smoke and Hansel and Gretel themselves, $2.50.

A Hungarian cake, made fresh and hot every day, is a nut roll made of a cake dough which has lots of eggs and butter. Seeds have been sprinkled all over the top, just for Food Mart customers.

Well, now that we've had cake and dessert, we can go back and begin the meal.

MENU, PLEASE

Fowl or Roast? Suckling pig this Christmas? Pennington Quality will order one if you give two or three days' notice. No advance warning at all for a giant standing rib roast (Yorkshire pudding!), a fat goose, a crisp duckling or a turkey to replace the one you've just thrown away from Thanksgiving.

We stopped at Rosedale to see what was smoking, and they blanched when they saw us coming. (They blanch down there, as well as smoke.) Those hams, cured on the spot, have all been spoken for, that's what.

If you want to take a chance that somebody's uncle George broke a leg and won't be coming for Christmas and so a ham order has been canceled, then knock on the Rosedale door. But don't say you weren't warned, if they tell you "no." Same goes for honeycured bacon.

Davidson's, Lyons and the Food Mart are full of protein for the holidays. Pheasants, guinea hens and geese in all sizes are on the Food Mart's marketing list. Lyons urges an early warning for your holiday fowl.

To serve with, Bucks County Emporium passes the Hill Hollow mint meat sauce, the steak sauce and the ham sauce. (This outfit also makes hickory-smoked pumpkin seeds, and when you pass those around, is absolutely up to you.)

CHOCOLATE!

But Toffee, Too. Rolling out of Louise Maas, Glazed with all that candy, we are nevertheless sober enought to describe the Old Dominion chocolate box, a handsome package in two shades of brown: milk and bittersweet chocolate.

Something Sweet to Roll on the Tongue

Candy at Christmas is almost as essential as a stocking to warm by the fire. The big national brands are distributed widely across town, and not many shops have an exclusive. But each store does have something that touches its particular sweet tooth. Ready to nibble?

Happy House. This new shop has the hand-dipped candies of Mrs. Stevens, from Chicago. Priced at $1.59 a pound, they include such delicacies as chocolate-pecan caramel madcaps (like turtles), raspberry creams, black walnut creams, fruit and nut assortments and almond bark. Try the luxury assortment at $3.50 for two pounds.

Louise Maas. Italy, Ireland, Switzerland—the candies come from around the world to this tiny shop. Miss Maas tells us that Italian chocolates are the rich ones, Irish are the mild.

Thorne's. Lindt's Ever-so-Thins are the answer to that difficult person who always wants the dark and bitter kind.

Zinder's. Glittering little foil-wrapped chocolate tree ornaments from Barton's are new this year. A miniature candy (chocolate) cane, foil-wrapped, is 12 cents. Tiny chocolate spheres, fill a gold mesh bag for 49 cents.

Marsh. Black raspberry chocolate thin mints by Wallace will surprise your dinner guests.

Viedt's. Loyal to Fanny Farmer, this chocolate shop has that good lady's French mints and buttercrunch squares, among others.

Nassau Del. Motta candy from Italy comes in fanciful tins, like the one with the whole Italian boot in a three-dimensional map, alps to sea.

wake up one morning and find itself commercial, or at least professional.

"These constant use variances are a kind of creeping re-zoning," commented Gordon Griffin, Township attorney, "It's a question of facing up to the possibility that the area may need re-zoning."

After a lengthy discussion, which must have been a cliff-hanger for Dr. Dodson because "yes" and "no" changed hands several times, Committee approved the Zoning Board's recommendation, 4-1.

"This is a reluctant vote on my part," said Mr. Wilson. "I don't intend to vote for any more of these."

Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman asked Committeeman Carl C. Schafer Jr. and Administrator Joseph R. Nini to send a memo to the Planning Board asking its members to consider re-zoning.

Committee also:

- Heard Committeeman John O. Green report that the Council of Community services would like Borough and Township to hire a Joint Recreation Director for both municipalities.
- Learned from Mr. Nini and Mr. Wilson that "where to keep the dogs" is still a problem. No kennel in this area will take Township strays. Mr. Nini suggested the possible use of a vacant house on the River Road property of the sewer operating committee.
- Passed on to the new Committee the problem of parking on Henry Avenue.
- Amended the land subdivision ordinance to ease things for people with minor subdivisions.
- Amended the Open Space Commission ordinance to remove from the Commission Mr. Nini and a Township Committee representative. This is the first implementation of a new policy relieving Committeemen and administrative officers from duties on various boards.

MRS. HOLLY DIES

Found Unconscious at Home. Mrs. Eleanore Wilson Holly, 37, of 156 Moore Street, was pronounced dead at Princeton Hospital on Monday afternoon after she had been found unconscious in her car in back of her home. She is survived by two sons, Dudley W. and Jared W., and a daughter, Noel A. Holly.

Mrs. Holly, daughter of the late C. Dudley Wilson and the late Verna E. Spencer Wilson, was a well-known amateur musician who had appeared frequently as a concert singer in New York, Philadelphia and Trenton. She was a member of the Present Day Club, the Hopewell Garden Club, the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs and the Music Club of Princeton.

A graduate of Miss Fine's School in 1944 and Wheaton College, Class of 1948, Mrs. Holly was a member of Trinity Episcopal Church and was for many years a member of the choir.

In addition to her three children, Mrs. Holly is survived by a brother, Jared H. Wilson, of Stamford, Conn., and an aunt, Mrs. John D. Oliphant, of Trenton.

The funeral will be held at 10:30 a.m. this Thursday in Trinity Church, the Rev. Dr. Robert R. Spears officiating. Interment will be held at the convenience of the famliy under direction of the Mather Funeral Home.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to Trinity Episcopal Church.

FOUR CARS SKID

Three Poles, One Tree Hit. Four motorists hit icy spots on Township Roads last week with the result that all lost control of their cars, three coming to rest against utility poles and one hitting a tree. Three of the accidents occurred on Thursday within four and a half hours of each other.

The most recent happened on Route 206 Sunday afternoon near the intersection of Hillside Avenue. Barry E. Palmer, 21, of Gloucester, told police his car hit an icy spot as he entered a curve. His car, out of control, struck a pole, damaging the entire front end and was towed away. Mr. Palmer was uninjured.

The first of Thursday's three mishaps also took place on

LET'S TALK CHRISTMAS

Christmas is a time when most people try so hard to please their loved ones . . . for over 35 years, Bailey's has served the people of Princeton and vicinity. May we have the pleasure of serving you with the finest goods at prices you can afford?

You will find undies with gown-and-robe peignoir sets — just beautiful! By "Blue Swan," comes in blue, black or white, only $9.98. Slips — the kind that really fit with no bagging at the waist, in sizes 32-46 by Komor. Boxed.

Then, if you want to see an impressive black bra and panty set at $4.98 — Permahill has the best fit you ever had.

Arnel quilted robes should satisfy most anyone, and there's an arnel gown to go along, in all colors.

If you need maternity wear, you will find a beautiful dress that you can wear now . . . and later. Would make a terrific gift at this time. The maternity blouses are just lovely at $3.98.

Sweaters are always a nice gift. We feature Shetland cardigans in 10 colors at $6.98, sizes 34-40. May we suggest Roman striped orlon cardigans in 10 colors? Especially in larger sizes, up to 48, at the low price of $5.98, with never a pucker, and machine-washable colors, like black, white, green, blue, beige. Same colors in slipovers, sizes 34-40, at $3.98.

Coats, dresses, skirts, blouses in great variety — all just great for gifts and a special group of dresses worth $25 to $30 at $12.98 and $14.98. This would make a terrific gift at a low price.

Hundreds of other items too numerous to mention. All gifts boxed. Stop in, won't you?

Route 206, a mile and a half north of Township Hall. When the front wheel of her car caught the edge of the roadway, it forced Mrs. Mary D. Jacquart, 27, of Rocky Hill to go out of control and hit a pole.

Mrs. Jacquart was not injured but the entire front end of her 1964 sedan was damaged. Police said it was snowing and the road was slippery at the time.

Seventy-five minutes later, the snow-slick roads victimized Francis Zeitler, 30 of Carter Road. Mr. Zeitler told police that his car skidded on the high crown of the road as he rounded a curve on Rosedale Road, opposite Galbreath Drive. His 1963 station wagon turned around before it hit a telephone pole.

Mr. Zeitler escaped injury but his son, Kenneth, age 4, received a bump of his forehead and cut his tongue. Like the others, the front end of Mr. Zeitler's car was extensively damaged.

Finally, Mrs. Francis H. Hook, 29, of 851 Mt. Lucas Road, skidded on Mt. Lucas Road at 3 that afternoon. She lost control and rammed into a tree on the opposite side of the road at the intersection of Poor Farm Road.

The impact damaged the left side of the Hook car. As in the three previous mishaps, no charges were made by the police.

Two Hit in Borough. An elderly lady and a nine-year-old boy were hit by cars last week in the Borough in separate accidents. Neither was seriously hurt.

Monday afternoon, Mrs. Gordon Hall, 72, 575 Snowden Lane, was hit by a car backing up as she walked along a Tulane Street sidewalk. She was treated at Princeton Hospital for cuts of the head and hands.

Sheila Barnett, 40, 74 Robert Road, the driver told police that as she was backing from a private driveway across the sidewalk, her foot, weltened by the snow, slipped off the brake and hit the accelerator. The car lurched backward, striking Mrs. Hall and knocking her to the ground. No charges were made by the Borough police.

Michael McQuoid, 9, 145 N. Harrison, apparently was uninjured after being knocked down by a car on Hamilton Avenue. He was checked at Princeton Hospital.

The driver, Anthony Gaylord, 45, 345 Ewing Street, reported that he saw a group of boys playing near the edge of the street not far from the intersection of Walnut Lane. He slowed down, but said that Michael darted out into the middle of the street and was hit.

CAROLS ON THE "SQUARE" For 24th Year. The traditional Christmas carol sing at Palmer Square will be held again this year on Christmas Eve.

The program begins at 5:30 with special cartoons for children at the Playhouse. Candy canes will be distributed after the show.

Caroling is scheduled for 6, featuring the Princeton High School choir, directed by Thomas Hilbish. Santa Claus will show up at the close of the singing for his annual check on good girls and boys. Sponsors of the festivities are Palmer Square, Inc. and the Princeton Lions Club.

Vaccine Success Story

A total of 13,031 received immunization against Type One polio during the past two Sundays at the three Princeton clinics, according to Dr. Benjamin K. Silverman, general chairman of the "Victory Over Polio" program. Last Sunday, 3,287 joined the 9,744 who had previously taken the Sabin oral vaccine at one of the clinics or at the University dispensary.

It is estimated by medical authorities that at least an additional one-third of the population of the Borough and Township had taken the Sabin vaccine prior to the start of the campaign. This indicates that upwards of 90% now have immunity to Type One polio.

Clinics for immunization against the other two types of polio will be held during forthcoming months.

A PARTY FOR ALL. Field Service Is Host. A chance to have a gay Christmas reunion with old friends and to have fun at the same time — that's the inducement offered by the American Field Service to attend a holiday party.

The party will be held the day after Christmas — December 26 — at 8:30 p.m. in the gymnasium of Miss Fine's School. Boys and girls from Princeton High School, Miss Fine's and various preparatory school, college student home for the holidays, graduate students from far countries and even mothers and fathers are invited to attend.

In place of the standard dance of previous years, the Field Service committee has planned a party. Eric Olaf Eriesson and his Scandinavian group from New York (accordion, guitar, bass) will play all kinds of dance music, from the twist to the polka.

Two Princeton folk-singers, Tneky Ramus and Beau Carter, will sing. Professional folk-dancers will show the crowd how to do those circle folk-dances that don't require much in the way of skill.

Tables covered with red-checked cloths will rim the gym, and provide a place where old friends can catch up on old friendships. Refreshments (punch and cookies) will be free.

BURGLARY IS FOILED

Two Juveniles Arrested. Two Princeton juveniles, ages 16 and 17, are in Mercer County Jail today, following their arrest Sunday afternoon after they failed in their attempt to enter Gordon's Radio Service located in the bottom floor of the Houghton Building, 221 Witherspoon Street. Charged with juvenile delinquency, they will appear for a hearing before Mercer County Juvenile Judge J Wilson Naden.

Harold G. Houghton, owner of the building, told Borough police he was in his office that afternoon when he saw the two youths drive up. Mr. Houghton said that after he saw them break three panes of glass in the rear door leading to the radio shop, he managed to apprehend one of the juveniles who then broke away from his grasp.

Following this, the pair jumped into their car, Mr. Houghton said, and tried to run him down. He turned their license number over to Borough police who shortly arrested the youths in their car. Later they were identified by Mr. Houghton.

Police reported that the youths were foiled in their attempt to enter the radio shop because the owner — a victim of two previous burglaries — had installed steel bars across the top and bottom of the door for added protection. Included in the charge of juvenile delinquency against the two are attempted breaking and entering, attempted larceny and attempted assault by auto.

HAVE A SAFE CHRISTMAS

Fire Chief Urges Care. "Dangerous Christmas toys and trees can transform a Merry Christmas into a terrible tragedy in a brief moment," warns Princeton Fire Chief Samuel G. Davison. Chief Davison urges that parents select toys for their children with safety uppermost in mind and that they use extreme caution when decorating and maintaining the Christmas tree.

"People should insist that all toys they buy be safe," he points out. "Toys should be incapable of causing fire, shock or explosion. Careful judgement is essential in purchasing chemical sets.

"Toys requiring alcohol, kerosene, gasoline or carbide lamps can be very dangerous," Chief Davison continues. "Make certain the underwriters' label is present on any heat-producing toys. Your best assurance of getting a safe electrical toy is a UL label or tag on it."

He offers several tips on buying and decorating trees:

- Choose a small tree instead of a large one. The bigger the tree, the bigger the potential blaze.
- Keep the tree out doors until you're ready to install it, and don't set it up until just before Christmas.
- Place the tree in water in the coolest part of the house, away from radiators, heaters and fireplaces.
- Use fireproof decorations of glass or metal. Never use cotton or paper decorations unless they are guaranteed flameproof.
- Always use electric lights bearing the UL label, and be sure to check all wiring carefully. Never use candles; discard any lighting sets with frayed wiring.
- Use a switch at some distance from the tree for turning lights on and off.

SAFETY RULES LISTED

For Skating and Sledding. Sgt. Jack Petrone of the Township Police Department has again been named safety officer for the Princeton Playground Committee. Sgt. Petrone will keep the community informed as to ice skating and sledding conditions throughout the winter months.

When skating is permissible on Lake Carnegie, white flags will be posted on the corners of Nassau and Witherspoon Streets and Nassau and Harrison and in front of the sailboat dock on Princeton-Kingston.

WHERE'S THE NEAREST RUG? This load of trash collected from the eating clubs on Prospect Avenue eventually reached its destination—the town incinerator—but it arrived in a different truck. The contents of original truck, operated by Playton Rhodes, caught fire and were dumped on Washington Road Tuesday afternoon about 3 to prevent damage to the truck. The trash was blazing when the fire engine arrived but flames were held down with aid from a passing Kingston Trap Rock cement truck whose driver directed a stream of water on the fire from a water tank on his truck. Day Schools Started Ground was broken last week at the site of the proposed Princeton Day Schools on the Great Road. The new school will merge Miss Fine's and Princeton Country Day and accommodate 850 girls and boys.

The buildings are expected to be ready for use in September, 1965. Designed by the Perkins and Will architectural firm, the buildings will combine a modern interior with a colonial exterior.

The William L. Crow Construction Company is in charge of the building program. The firm is responsible for such area projects as Princeton University's Engineering Quadrangle and the Woodrow Wilson Graduate School, currently under construction.

The safety office has instructed skaters to keep away from red danger signals and from areas underneath bridges, unless signs indicate otherwise. Furthermore, skaters are urged to report treacherous spots and never skate alone.

Sgt. Petrone said that night skating will be permitted west of the Washington Road Bridge and in front of the Princeton-Kingston Road sailboat dock when the ice is safe. Both of these locations have been equipped with lights.

Sites for Sledding. In the Borough, sledding will be permitted on Harriet Drive, but Linden Lane will not be closed off for the sport. The reason given was that the intersection of Linden Lane and Hamilton Avenue is unsafe because of traffic.

Walnut Lane between Terhune and Valley Roads and Roper Road between Random Road and Littlebrook Drive will be available for sledding in the Township. Motorists are urged not to use the streets for through traffic when they are blocked off for sledding. The streets will be open to residents of the area.

CHRISTMAS SHOW HELD

At Studio-on-the-Canal. Rex Goreleigh, Director of the Studio-on-the-Canal, Alexander Street, announces a special exhibition of paintings, graphics, sculpture and ceramics for the Christmas season. The work is done by instructors at the studio and one or two guest artists, and all the exhibits are for sale at moderate prices, suitable for gifts for the home.

Rex Goreleigh. Among Mr. Goreleigh's paintings, we find an exceptionally attractive composition, "Still Life," which was, very probably, a class problem and which, in his execution, has shown his students and public how decorative and colorful a picture can be made from a simple arrangement of fruit and bottles on a plain kitchen chair. The gaiety of his color is seen also in "Circus," a scene full of the hurly-burly of the fairground, lively with hawkers and children with balloons and spun sugar.

Linda Thorne. Snowy landscapes by Linda Thorne are painted with a good amount of realism together with a conscious effort to explore the abstract design while composing buildings with canal bank, or buildings with hillside. Her "Red Barns" (overlooking the canal) makes an interesting picture; the fallen snow is cold, the light is green with promise of more snow to come.

Linda Thorne, who comes from Utah, is teaching ceramics and is also interested in sculpture. Examples of her metal sculpture are on exhibit here.

Stefan Martin. "Tree Forms," a severe and stark lithograph, has the attributes of strong design and feeling which we expect from Stefan Martin. "Stream Edge," is another of his lithographs which says what he means and we sense the noise and rush water at first thaw.

James Edwards. This artist, who teaches silk screen printing, has on exhibit two photographs of his own silk screen prints, "Place Hotel De Ville," and "Rue de Rivoli," both drawn in black and white with patches of color suggestive of Paris. He has Christmas cards for sale as well and several pieces of ceramics.

Robert Mueler. "Portrait of the Artist as an Inventor" is a line study self-portrait of Robert Mueler, whose other talents (besides invention) include drawing and painting and teaching. "She, (After Tagore)" is the favorite picture of the high school student who went to see the show with us. It is an interesting technique of woodcut in color. "Punch," reclining and watching the world go by is a straight black-and-white cut.

Hughie Lee Smith, is a fine painter and a stimulating teacher. He teaches the advanced painting classes at the Canal Studio and the weekly painting classes at Princeton Country Day School. Among his paintings here he has a figure study of a standing woman and a landscape. The landscape is in oil on paper, a low-keyed view of the canal bank with lots of mood.

Huseyin Halit, a Turkish painter who formerly taught at Group Arts fan organization which functioned under Mr. Goreleigh's leadership from 1947 to 1955) has returned to Princeton and was invited to show his pen-and-ink drawings. These are small pictures, mostly of animals, sometimes just a few lines which describe a very froggy frog or a tired dog, a pussy cat up a tree, this one in colored ink, and a series of miniature framed photos of original ink paintings.

The other guest is Helen Nergaard, the only student represented in the show. She draws well and has a good sense of organization, an obvious credit to her teachers as you can tell in her two wood engravings called "The Quick" and "The Dead," both tree studies.

The studio will be open this week only during the evening, but on the weekends, it will be open to the public all day Saturday and Sunday.

WHO SUCCEEDS WHOM? When a vice-president assumes the presidency, it focuses attention on the question of succession which has drawn criticism for not being spelled out as clearly as it might be. Frank Durkin gives his opinion on the problem. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you feel the line of succession to the Presidency of the United States needs changing?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Frank Durkin, Lower Alexander Road, salesman, University Store: I was pretty satisfied with the change they made in Roosevelt's term, I believe. I think they were right in letting an elected representative follow rather than an appointed one. There is a suggestion right now in the Rules Committee that the president nominate someone for vice-president who would then be approved by the Senate so there would be an actual vice-president active immediately. Right now, we have the feeling that McCormack is acting vice-president when, in truth, he is just the next in line of succession.

Edmund Schuster, Route 206, manager: Yes. As I understand it, his successor now is the Speaker of the House. I'm of the opinion of former president Eisenhower that it should go to the Secretary of State. I think he is far more qualified, especially in the field of foreign affairs which I think is most important.

Mrs. W. M. Young, 16 Maclean Circle, administration, Miss Fine's School: I think there definitely needs to be legislation which sets down very carefully what happens should something happen to the vice-president and the Speaker of the House. Who would replace the Speaker and who would become the vice-president? This can be done only through congressional action and I would suggest it be done soon.

Mrs. Frederick Foglesong, Philip Drive, housewife: No, I don't. It was changed not very long ago and I feel they considered it quite seriously then and I see no reason to change it now.

Donald Holmstrom, Route 1, food service manager for Princeton University: I think it needs clarification more than changing. It is not spelled out clearly enough when a president is sick who determines whether he is able to perform his duties or not. Another bad point in the line of succession is that you never really go beyond the Speaker of the House. As soon as one moves up they immediately elect a new speaker. I think this needs to be changed.

Miss Elizabeth Paterson, Kingston, typist for Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Foundation: Yes. I do. I think it is more desirable that the Secretary of State be next in line because he has a greater knowledge of foreign affairs. And yet the Speaker of the House is an elected official, a very important person, and I'm sure, well-qualified. It's hard to say. As far as international affairs are concerned, I still feel the Secretary of State would make a better choice.

Richard Elliott, Hightstown, student, Princeton Theological Seminary: No, it seems to have been all right in the past. What I think needs to be clarified is not who follows in the case of the death of a president but what to do if a president becomes disabled. This was a problem with Wilson, who was sick for a long period. When should the vice-president take over?

Miss Katherine F. Lenroot, 131 Patton Avenue, retired: I think there are things that need clarifying — like what to do in the case of incapacity — but I'm not sure the line of succession needs changing. Some of the comments are to the effect that it isn't necessarily as bad as it sounds, because if the Speaker should die in office or if he were assassinated at the same time as the president, they would elect another Speaker immediately and he would succeed if necessary. I think this needs to be clarified legally but I'm not sure it needs changing.

Gary Giberson, Yardville, routines investigator for Western Electric, Carter Road: I realize there has to be some line of succession but my personal opinion would be to find the most qualified person. I think this person should be an elected official but there are arguments against this, too. In the end, I think I would just as soon see the Secretary of State take over rather the Speaker because I feel he would be better qualified for the job, especially in foreign affairs.

Mrs. Julia Harris, 7 Cleveland Lane, housewife: I think it's all right. I feel as long as they have it fixed the way they do they should stick to it. I think the proposed alternatives, such as electing a first and second vice-president, are too cumbersome.

William Bradshaw, 1901 Hall, University senior: I think it needs changing. There is an automatic election for a new speaker should anything happen to the current one. This, to me, is a point of weakness. We could be caught up in a period of turmoil when they would aim for the whole cabinet. There are others in line but you never know if they are going to get it because they elect a new Speaker of the House. I'd like to know who is in line all the way down. I think in the future the voters will pay more attention to the people they're voting for, especially the vice-president. Who are they? What did they fight for? What are they against? That's what I want to know.

Sorrell Gould, Trenton, salesman for Viking Furniture: No, I don't think so. I think, in view of what happened a few weeks ago, that everything has worked out all right so far.

David Thompson, Rollingmeade, administrative staff, Princeton University: I do, but I'm sure how it should be done. I think the line of succession should be understood more clearly by all citizens. The House would immediately elect another Speaker should something happen, and I think this should be more clearly understood by the voter who really doesn't have any say at all who the House elects as Speaker. Perhaps what needs changing is the method of selecting the Speaker rather than the line of succession.

It's New To Us

From $1.80 to $2.50 a pound, domestic.

Wallace packs a wreath of candied fruit slices around a hub of small chocolates, $3 for the package. The thin - mint man also has hard candy, at $2.50 for a box slightly over two pounds.

Don't forget Miss Maas' showcase of bulk chocolates at $1.80 a pound, and those Christmas mints . . . ! Red daisies, red white or green wreaths, Santas: red or green mint dragees and the little white snowballs.

Fanciers of marzipan will find Marzinteets, coated with green just like a Jordan almond. But, of course, traditional marzipan, too, at $2.20 a pound. We like strawberries, nested in a box. A roll of plain marzipan looks just like a vanilla cooky.

Liquid-center Nectars from Frazer have been packed in a cordial "bottle," just about a quart, we'd say.

Santa on the Phone. Miss Maas has a toy-shop of chocolate novelties, like the $1 foil covered telephone and the big Santa from Germany that looks like an old-fashioned Saint Nicholas. Chocolate ski-boots rest on a pair of blue skis, and an all-chocolate purse has chocolate money.

Who's Ready for o Porty?

Parties are as varied as the people who give them. Some are the hame-on-rye kind, others are caviar and champagne.

Since you're going to give a party at Christmas or New Year's anyway, we thought we'd pick out a few delicacies for any kind of party you decide to give.

Christmas cake. Decorated in the spirit of the season, with lots of holly and plenty of Santa Clauses. Order them from Princeton Junction Delicatessen.

Ice-cream trees. Costa's French ice-cream makes a three-inch flat Christmas tree, light green with decorettes for ornaments. Ready anytime you are, at Viedt's.

Champagne fountain. Three tiers and a capacity of four gallons, this fountain will cascade champagne or your favorite punch. Just plug it in. Varsity Liquors will rent it to you.

Caviar. Green Seal Romanoff Beluga Cavair, four ounces or eight ounces. If you wish, it can be paired with a Terrine of Strasbourg Foi Gras and packed in a gift box for $11.95. Gourmet has the key.

Half-and-Half bread. Made of rye, pumpernickel and corn flours, this bread looks like a marble cake and is devastating under a prosciutto sliver. Can be ordered in cocktail shape and size. The Food Mart serves it up.

And . . . Cummins Shop's "alligator" leather ice-bucket cylinder, 14 inches tall, in deep tomato red, brown or honey, for $12.50. . . . Silver Shop's unadorned silver ice-bucket . . . Ivy Manor's cabinet bars, some with complete glassware, in modern or Colonial designs . . . Farkonh's deeply colored cocktail napkins with heraldry designs, eight for $3.95.

Wait'll Christmas morning, and the four-year-old finds the 12-inch trumpet that really toots, with the lollypops that really suck! We can hear it from here. $1 for all.

Droste slips a bar into a pull-out package that reveals a snake - charmer as you slowly pull the bar out of its wrapper.

Droste's chocolate apple has long been a favorite at Viedt's, but Fanny farmer is really the queen here. Miss F.'s Christmas package is alive with the good eating and color of the holiday. You may buy boxes of Fanny Farmer from $1 to $7.75.

Marzipan strawberries grow at Viedt's, too, and so does the barley-sugar, mounted this year on a lollypop stick. Big hand-rolled canes are 25 cents for a pair — one for you and one for me.

If chocolate is not for you, consider Schrafft's ribbon candy, or the crystallized ginger. Viedt's opens the almond roca, and the glaced fruits for a favored guest, and tucks the foil-wrapped novalties into a small Christmas stocking.

No, those figures at Viedt's are not milk and bitter chocolate. They are African woods from Kenya and they have been hand-carved by native craftsmen into the people and animals you see here in the shop.

There's an impala, just a plain kind of deer and some native types (including a chief and a witch-doctor, probably). The figures would be worthy of a good modern interior and they are absolutely authentic. Fanny Farmer is not among them.

While at Thorne's . . . Basically, Thorne's in Princeton and Thorne's in West Windsor have the same candy collection, but there are variations here and there which you can explore yourself.

Russell Stover, of course, is the big chocolate man, with his Christmas wrappings. Five pounds of assortments for $7.50 is a good holiday nibble. Pastels, caramels and nuts are $1.60 in a slim holiday box.

Lindt's pastes pictures of Switzerland on the covers of candy boxes, just to remind you of the country of origin.

Floral mints are refreshing for a sated palate, and Stover's English caramels are a pleasingly different candy treat.

Novelties? Pipes to smoke, choirboys to sing, Santas to wink — all in foil - wrapped chocolate to hold in the hand, all at Thorne's.

At the Del., marzipan comes from Germany, molded into those wonderful food shapes. We'll take a salami sandwich on rye, please, with a Swiss cheese sandwich for our friend, here. A basket of marzipan vegetables as a side dish and marzipan chocolate - covered pretzels for dessert.

Schokolade? You can fill a whole stocking with the Del.'s 12-inch long chocolate bars — a chocolate foot, if you please. "Schweizer Alpenmilch Schokolade?" "Cioccolata al Latte Delle Alpi Svizzere con Nocciole?"

Pennington Quality's Plantation chocolate straws come in a tin box, to keep them fresh. Santakens, in this store, turn out to be flat chocolate trees, deer and Santas, 39 cents a box. Know what? This store

Christmas Lights to be Studied

To the Editor of Town Topics:

An overwhelming number of persons answered "yes" to your December 12 Question of the Week "Would you like to see overhead Christmas lights strung up and down Nassau Street?" True, the positive responses each provided some qualifying comments, but this might be expected to your straightforward question.

We have clipped the page and filed it for consideration by the Chamber's Retail Division during the coming year. Frankly, street decorations require a considerable amount of money and labor that must come from some voluntary source.

During the present pre-holiday season, we would like to call attention to the many very attractive window displays provided by Princeton area merchants. They show great originality and artistic skill and range from the Santa Claus theme to religious motifs.

In most instances these displays are devoted to giving a Christmassy setting for the busy gift shopper or the business area workers. Most of the displays are free of any commercialism.

Thanks to TT for gathering some typical Princetonian viewpoints on an interesting topical subject.

Executive Director,
Princeton Chamber

Argentina Mourns Kennedy.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Four years ago Roberto Magnacca, an American Field Service student, was a member of our family. When tragedy struck our country last month he wrote to me immediately, describing the intensity of the sorrow in all Argentina.

Last week I received this letter from his mother, whom I have never met. I have copied it in its entirety, thinking that the people of Princeton might be touched by the depth of feeling and the warmth of a relationship which was established through an exchange program.

EDITH L. LEVERENZ
(Mrs. H. W. Leverenz)
35 Westcott Rd.

The letter follows:

Dear Edith,

I believe that sometime ago, in one of my letters, I told you that I am extremely negligent to write. It is one of my negative factors.

But it is different now something so horrible has happened that I feel the necessity to write, to express to you how much the death of dear President Kennedy saddens our spirit. I do not exaggerate, when I say that we feel this tragedy of yours, as something ours, as if we had lost something very dear to us.

Last Friday . . . there was something in the faces of the people that went by the streets in mourning silence, that I could feel in my throat. And this was the grieving of humanity, because he knew how to win its sympathy, affection and admiration, with the bold fight that he maintained, for a better world. May God take his sacrifice not in vain.

It is said that sorrow, if it is shared becomes lighter; if you feel that way, Edith, may it comfort you to know that the heart of all Argentinians is close to yours.

I send you in an embrace my solidarity and sympathies.

BOWDEN'S

It's Your Turn to Pour

The sauce makes the pudding, sometimes. Tucking this proverb inside our shopping list, we noted several interesting things to pour, shake or spread on top of something else, just for the fun of it at Christmas. All in good taste, of course.

Flambe Fanfare. Instant flaming, if you can believe it, with no pre-heating or, says the Gourmet, pre-worrying. Pour a teaspoon over any dessert and suddenly—flames. Comes in orange, rum or brandy flavor, three for $3 with recipes. Might be fun in a cigarette lighter.

Maple Sugar. Granulated maple sugar comes out of a shaker, just like salt. Shake it out of its sprinkler top and on to steaming oatmeal and what a breakfast! Or, try a liberal shake over vanilla ice-cream. Louise Maas is the shop.

Coffee Syrup. This concentrated syrup should be cut with brandy for ice-creams or puddings, and who can argue the point? Comes also in anise, orange, mint, citron and grenadine at the Bucks County Emporium.

Old Grand-Dad Honey. "Winner of the Scout Distilling Merit Badge, Bottled at the pond under the supervision of Texas Guinan (Den mother). Buy a bottle and help start a boy in a profitable business—bootlegging." Oh, well . . . It's part of the Del's honey collection.

A Rare Tea. While we're pouring, how about a hot cup on a cold day? Grace Rare tea, new to the Nassau Del., comes in a winy Keemun, Queen's Taste with oranges and spice), Darjeeling, a Lapsang Suchong, Jasmine and Earl Grey. A very, very special tea.

Just a Spot . . . What could be better for the cold than a quiet sip of 100-year-old brandy, poured with affection and respect from a Baccarat decanter. Claridge Wine and Liquor is the host.

It's New To Us

has green and white candy canes.

Zindel's Barton collection is vast and varied One, two, three or five-pound boxes are available, and the specialty of the season is the "Golden Treasure," each chocolate wrapped in gold foil and laid fondly in a gold box, $3.50. Nuts and fruits are gold-wrapped, too.

Bartonettes are miniatures, at $2.19 a pound, each small bit ea memorable experience. Three layers of the minatures came in a ceramic dish, if you really want to indulge. Hard candies from Barton come in a jar for $1.10.

Just A Sample. Whitman stirs the pot at Marsh's, providing that family friend, the Sampler box. A candy-filled snowman has a glass torso you can use later for flowers. A Wedgwood cannister from Holland (toffee inside) is another gift with an after-Christmas life.

After all the Swiss alps, it's fun to see a candy box with Niagara Falls, the Jefferson Memorial, the New York skyline and the Golden Gate bridge. Marsh's can also provide a few Irish scenes on the Urnay box. if you prefer.

"Songs of France" are packaged with hard candy in a new collection at Gourmet. The candy has natural fruit flavor, and each box has a natural old French song — printed in French and English, six for $2.50.

WINE AT HOME

A Vintage Year. Gourmet begins the cocktail hour with a Martini stone — one that has soaked in the jar of Vermouth right to the saturation point. Rinse it off and put it back in the jar until tomorrow night, then repeat. $3 a jar.

From its cache of 479 wines, Cousins selects four: a white wine, Chablis Grand Cru Vaudesir, 1959, at $3.95; a rose, J. Vidal Fleury, French Tavel, 1961 rose, $2.55; a red, Rhone, 1959 J. Vidal Fleury, Cote-Rotie, $2.85 and a champagne, Blondel Marchal, Brut 1955, $5.75.

A case of French champagne, 1959 Grand Cordon, F. Bouche from Epernay, is $5.75 a bottle, with a ten percent discoont on the case.

Chivas, that fine old Scot, sends Cousins Royal Salute in a green Spode decanter. It deserves, so they say, a 21-gun salute, and hence the name Fire!

High Caliber. At Wine and Game, they mount their half gallon of Courvoisier brandy in a gun rack stand. At least, they said "gun . . . " looked more like a cannon to us.

Very Old Fitzgerald (12 years — so how old are you?) comes in a red, velvet-lined box with two glasses. Varsity packs this one, too.

Almaden serves two goblets and two bottles of Burgundy (or reasonable substitute), and two glasses and one bottle of champagne, all for Wine and Game, Yeoman's and Princeton Junction Package Store.

Four big cups and two small ones, with bar utensils, and room for three bottles — that's Wine & Game's bottle carrier. A two-bottle on is $10.25.

Twelve bottles of Holland beer, with six gold-rimmed glasses, comes to $7.95. Picnic baskets can be made to your order, but why not select a wastebasket, red, green or black, and get it filled with one of Wine and Game's specialtiesZ?

In a frisky mood, Henkell lines up six splits of German sparkling wine (Trocken) in a picnic basket. Bet you can't wait 'till next summer. And while we're sparkling, why not the Taittinger French champagne, at $6.96 from Wine and Game?

After Dinner. Kahlua, the coffe liqueur from Mexico, is a gift for somebody who collects the exotic. It comes, from Varsity, in a statuette decanter. Another coffee liqueur, this one from the West Indies, comes in a bright ceramic bottle. That enchanting Flower of the Alps liqueur, golden and fresh, has its own herb right in the liquid. A round scenic package contains the tall bottle.

A yard of wine has been poured into the Val de Sieve Italian chianti bottle, now being measured at Princeton Junction Package Store and Yeoman's You can buy a smaller one which is round and not so long. Straw jacket is yellow or pinkish-mauve.

New York State champagne, from Chateau Royale, is $2.75, and Asti Spumante, the Italian champagne, is $4.45.

The Yeoman counter provides a stage for that dancer and musical decanter with Gilbey's 12-year-old Spey Royal Scotch inside. We'd like to receive four bottles of Italian wine in a gift chest decorated with carnival scenes.

As we said at the beginning, we leave you for 1963 with this final column, hoping that your new year will be joyous, and that it will fulfill every hope in your heart.

All of us extend best wishes for the Holiday Season

RAMBLERS HIT THE ROAD

Tigers in 3 Tournaments. Taking a highly satisfactory 4-1 record with it, Princeton's basketball team — more aptly named Ramblers than Tigers— will go to Lexington, Ky., this weekend for the first of three major holiday tournaments.

While there are no expectations that the Orange and Black will be favored to win any of them against the top-flight opposition it will meet, the fact remains that Princeton is improving steadily despite early - season problems. It does seem probable that the touring Tigers can win as many as four — possibly even five — of the seven games they will play.

Best chance for an outright tournament victory is in Miami, where Syracuse will be the Tigers' first-round opponent. If they get by this eastern foe, Miami — probable victor over Army in the other first-round pairing—is a team the Tigers might handle.

Perennially - powerful Kentucky is the favorite at Lexington, where the Tigers will have their hands full with Wake Forest in the first round. At Charlotte, Davidson is the favorite, with Texas, Southeastern Conference champion last winter, a tough opening-day opponent for Princeton. If the Tigers play in the consolation round there, odds are they can handle Penn, which opens with Davidson.

Two Road Games Won. Ability of sophomore Bob Haarlow to produce double figures — 17 against Lafayette and 20 against Navy — was a major factor in Princeton's victories away from home last week. Needless to say, Bill Bradley was the primary reason for the respective 69-64 and 80-76 victories at Easton and Annapolis, but the assistance that Haarlow provided was extremely welcome If he does well in the holiday games, some of the vital balance Princeton needs will have been supplied.

In occasionally sloppy, low-scoring action, the Tigers lost a seven-point advantage they held at the half and had maintained through 15 minutes of the second period. Before more than 4,000 roaring spectators, Lafayette moved into a three-point lead with only 1 15 left.

No one, however, could contain Bradley. Of Princeton's last eight points in regulation time, all were his — his field goal on his second rebound with two seconds to go creat-

The Tigers on Tour: Opponents and Pairings

Seven games — the first six in tournaments, the seventh a tribute to Bill Bradley in his home state — are on the Princeton basketball team's Christmas schedule. This is the story:

Fri.-Sat., Dec. 20-21: Kentucky Invitational at Lexington. Princeton vs. Wake Forest, Kentucky vs. Wisconsin Friday. Winners and losers paired Saturday.

Fri.-Sat., Dec. 27-28: Hurricane Classic at Miami, Fla. Princeton vs. Syracuse, Miami vs. Army Friday. Winners and losers paired Saturday.

Mon.-Tues., Dec. 30-31: Christmas Tournament at Charlotte, N.C. Princeton vs. Texas, Davidson vs. Penn Monday. Winners and Losers paired Tuesday.

Fri., Jan. 3: Princeton vs. Washington University at St. Louis in a game arranged specifically to show Missouri how its son from Crystal City plays basketball.

The holiday activity is unprecedented for a Princeton basketball team, which in the past has played in a single holiday tournament or visited three or four eastern and mid-western cities. In the case of Chuck Berling, a squad member who will fly home to California for Christmas between the Kentucky and Florida tournaments, the itinerary will total some 9000 miles.

ing overtime at 54-all. He again brought the Tigers even on a basket with 45 seconds left and then sent them on their winning way by dunking two free throws seconds after the final overtime period began. His point total on the night was 27.

At Annapolis, where he hit for 31, his 19 points in the first half were again 50% of his team's total — a 38-29 lead at the intermission. Moving better than at any time this season, Bill van Breda Kolff's operatives rolled out to a 21-point (75-54) lead.

Rally Comes Close. The Tiger coach began to substitute then, and Navy took advantage of the reserves' inexperience to jam in 22 points while holding the visitors to five. Eventually, the clock ran out on the midshipmen, with the crowd giving Bradley a standing ovation when he fouled out with 40 seconds to go.

Haarlow's 20 points were instrumental in the big second half lead, but the 29 points which Bradley and Haarlow did not make between them were scattered among eight other players. Captain Bill Howard made his first appearance in the second half, coming up with a valuable six points.

Save for Bradley and Haarlow, other three starting positions are still up for grabs. Howard is sure to fit into one of them and Don Roth is a good bet because of his rebounding and defensive play. Sophomores Ed Steube and Don Rodenbach, the latter developing into a good clutch shot; back court players Bill Kingston and Wally Uhle and center Rick Wright are all in the picture.

A report on the Rutgers game appears on page 31. The Tigers will not be seen in Dillon Gym again until they open their league season against Brown on January 10.

TIGER SKATERS SPLIT

In Weekend Series. Victory over previously-unbeaten Colgate was the highlight of a weekend series in Baker Rink played by Princeton's hockey team. Day after the Tiger skaters won over the New Yorkers, 5-2, they lost a 4-3 decision to Canadian-studded Northeastern.

Sophomores Steve Cook and Bert Bruser brought Princeton from behind Colgate's early 1-0 lead in the first period and the Tigers controlled the action thereafter. A fine performance in the goal by the fast-improving Dick Reece was the highlight of the contest.

The second period was scoreless, but the third proved to be the home team's best of the young season. Em Hall converted an accurate pass from George Peterson at 1:49, with Sam Abernethy and Mike Peterman following to give the Tigers a solid margin.

The momentum continued next day against Northeastern, Pony Fraker tipping in a blue-line shot by Buss Hall to get Princeton out in front as early as 8:36 of the first period. The visitors took advantage of Tiger defensive errors, however, gaining a 2-2 tie at the end of the first round, and they took a 3-2 lead into the final period.

A goal by Cook at 2.34 which came as he jammed in his own rebound deadlocked the count but once again it was inability to clear properly in its own zone that cost the Tigers the game. The 4-3 edge was achieved by Northeastern with 5:08 to go, six-man power plays near the finish falling short for Princeton.

A report on Tuesday night's game with Boston College is on page 31. The team will play a weak Hamilton sextet at West Orange Thursday night in its final game this year, returning to Baker Rink for an exhibition with the U.S. Olympic Team on New Year's Day.

EIGHT SCHOOLS HERE

For Hockey Tournament. The 16th annual Lawrenceville Hockey Tournament will be played in Baker Rink Friday and Saturday, with the championship final set for 2.30 Saturday.

The defending champion, University of Toronto Schools, is favored to repeat. Andover, which blanked all three of its opponents on its way to the title in 1961, is second-seeded.

First-round pairings Friday morning will match Toronto against Choate; Belmont Hill against Taft; Andover against Nichols; and Lawrenceville against Deerfield. If weather permits, the Belmont Hill-Taft and Lawrenceville - Deerfield games will be played at the Larries' Lavino Rink.

The morning's losers will play Friday afternoon, with the winners meeting Friday night in two semi-final games, the first at 8 in Baker Rink. Consolation rounds Saturday morning will precede the final that afternoon.

Tigers in Garden in 1964

Princeton's first regular-season appearance in Madison Square Garden in basketball is schedule for December, 1964.

The Tigers will be one of six host teams in the Holiday Festival tournament sponsored by the Eastern College Athletic Tournament. The five other ECAC members to compete will be Manhattan, St. Jnhn's, Temple, Syracuse and La Salle, while Cincinnati, invariably one of the nation's top ten teams, and Michigan will be the guest entries.

Princeton has divided its two appearances in the Garden, where the doubleheaders programmed by Ned Irish in the '30's propelled the sport into the national spotlight. The Tigers lost to Duke and defeated George Washington in NCAA post-season play after winning Ivy titles.

Princetonians in Action. Ten Princeton area residents, most of whom learned their early hockey in the Pee-Wee League and at Princeton Country Day, will play in the tournament. Bill Hamill, Carter Road, is captain of the host team, Lawrenceville, which also includes John Benson, 22 Westerly Road, and Sandy Edwards, King George Road, Pennington.

Four Princetonians are on the Taft squad: Coleman Donaldson, Jr., 162 Library Place; Bob Griggs, 72 Gulick Road; Hank Tomlinson, 171 Westcott Road; and Ford Wandell, 151 Mt. Lucas Road. Craig Battle, 61 Hodge Road, is on the Choate team, while Andover is represented by Ford Fraker 55 Winfield Drive, and Charlie Sampson, Princeton-Lawrenceville Road.

Charles R. Erdman, Jr. is tournament committee chairman, with Harrison Fraker, treasurer. Other members are John Bernard, Fred Wandelt, William Stryker, Laurence Tilhonen, Donald and George Young and Christopher Rodgers.

PHS PREVAILS IN OPENER

Pennington Due Here Friday. Neither first-game jitters, the deafening roar of home-town fans, rustiness or two overtime periods kept Princeton High from the slow completion of a 40-32 victory over Hightstown Friday in the opening round of its 1963-64 basketball season.

The jitters and the rustiness should be absent the third time around when PHS entertains Pennington High School Friday evening in a 7.30 contest. The jayvee team will square off an hour earlier. (For a report of the Little Tigers' home opener Tuesday against Franklin, see page 31.)

Pennington is also expected to be a little less deliberate in style. Consequently, its contest with PHS should not resemble one played in the 1930's — a comment voiced by PHS coach Tony Borzok following the Hightstown slowdown.

After the Pennington contest, PHS will break for the annual holiday hiatus. It will resume January 7 at home against Hightstown. In this rematch, Ram coach Cliff Brantigan has vowed revenge.

Brautigan's teeth were set on edge Friday when his team, leading for three quarters, was tied by PHS in the fourth and then went on to lose in double overtime. At times, the roar in the small gymnasium was so deafening that Pete Heiberger, PHS center, told Borzok he wished he had cotton in his ears.

For Borzok, the game was "a real cliffhanger. It was a real game for the fans," he continued. "Our kids didn't panic. Case came off the bench and really did a fantastic job. It was a nice one to win. It's always nice to get that first one."

Case Is Standout. Although Borzok labeled it a team victory, it was not hard to single out the game's hero — Jimmy Case. Benched early in the game for tightness, Case returned to break the game open in the second three-minute overtime.

This second overtime started with Case grabbing the jump and driving in for a layup. Moments later he scored again and also hit on two free throws. He finished with 11 points, second to teammate Jim Tucker who hit for 13.

The 11 points PHS scored in the three-minute overtime period equaled the number of points it made in the entire first half — 16 minutes long. Almost five minutes were to pass before the game's first points — two free throws — were tallied. The first period ended with Hightstown in front, 4-2. It was no more than 11-11 at the half.

The shooting of Tucker and Heiberger enabled PHS to come from behind in the final period and go ahead, 29-27. Then the Rams tied it up to force the extra sessions.

In the first overtime, PHS grabbed the tap, attempted a shot and missed. Hightstown then got possession of the ball and retained it throughout the overtime, playing for a final basket. It missed.

Then came the final, relatively free-wheeling three minutes. Borzok explained the outburst by saying that he felt the pressure that had been building all night just had to explode. Fortunately, the spark that set it off was Case.

In the final minutes, in addition to Case's heroics, some clutch foul shooting was provided by Heiberger and Kerry Klink.

There was nothing deliberate about the jayvee game between PHS and Hightstown. Paced by Ed McEwen's 13 points, the Little Tigers romped off with a 58-37 victory. In all, nine Little Tigers scored. Almost half of their effort came in the second period when PHS outscored the losers, 25-7.

ON THE LEVEL: When Tony Borzok, 5-7 PHS basketball coach, wants to get eyeball to eyeball with 6-8 Tom Bndinger, something more than elevator shoes is necessary to make up the 13-inch deficit. Tony has the answer.

CYANAMID IS UNBEATEN

In other contests, Western Electric, led by Jerry Pazdan's 13 points, won its first, a 47-41 verdict over winless Princeton Hospital. Eddie Riddick's game high 25 paced the losers. Astro "A" won over RCA Labs by default.

RICK HURD
All-State Gnard

Ten New Jersey high school players and one from a preparatory school were named this month to the All-State Football Team selected by the Newark News. The lone private school nominee to crack the ranks of the rugged high school players — who invariably go on to play with the nation's top college elevens — is Rick Hurd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hurd of 71 Independence Drive.

A member of Coach Jack Reydel's Lawrenceville team which compiled a solid 5-2 record against tough opposition, Hurd outweighs the biggest Princeton lineman by 25 pounds. At 251, he blends size and unusual agility in a manner that has the talent scouts of a number of colleges waiting to see on whose campus he will be next fall.

In earning a berth on the All-State team, the young Princetonian drew this citation for his play as a guard:

"This young man, built more along the lines of a pro lineman than a 17-year old, led a great Lawrenceville defense which allowed only 24 points in seven games. Rated an even better forward than Bob Casey, Lawrenceville's All - Stater of a year ago, Hurd displayed amazing agility and range for a guard this size.

"Many a time he threw off double-teaming by opponents to smear an opposing back. On offense, he showed off a fine charge which was used to its best advantage by Lawrentian backs."

Rick was often virtually a 60-minute player this season, demonstrating fine two-way versatility in an era of increasing specialization. He is leaning toward an Ivy League college (Harvard . . . Princeton . . . Penn?), and one of them appears set to benefit considerably when he makes his decision.

HUN ROLLS IT UP

To Defeat Bryn Athyn. Scoring more points than it has in the past two years, the Hun basketball team routed Bryn Athyn, 77-51, Saturday in Philadelphia in the opening game for both schools. Hun raced to a 14-2 first-quarter bulge and led all the way, outscoring the home team in every period.

Four of Hun's starters reached double figures to combine for 58 points. Captain Scott Page hit for a game high 20. Sophomore Mike Miller was close behind with 18, while mike Leon and Tryg Slettleland connected for 10 each. Every member of the 12-man Hun Squad saw action.

Bob Simpson, in his second year as head coach, reported he was "very pleased" with the impressive start. He added that it looks as if Hun has an excellent starting five in Page, Leon, Ted Isaacson, Miller and Slettleland. Scott Anderson and 6-4 Kevin Nevils, who dropped in five points against Bryn Athyn, represent a strong bench.

In grabbing his first Penn-Jersey League victory, of the season, Simpson was understandably pleased because it was accomplished against a tall, well-drilled opponent. He indicated that there was nothing second rate about Bryn Athyn.

BOWLING NOTES

Kase, Balestrieri in Tie. Balestrieri swept three games in the "B" League last week to move into a tie with Kase Kleaners for first place. Each team has 56 points and leads Jugtown Delicatessen by four points.

Bill Pencili ran away with individual honors. He shot a 242-192-175-609 series, for the high single game and set. Other high scorers included Fred Procaccini, 224; John Stackowitz, 214; Val Ranallo, 212; Bill Murphy, Tony Tamasi, 209 each; Wilton Rose, 208; Dan Tamasi, 207; Jack Luccy, 203 and 202; Frank Maddalon, Frank Sannino, 203 each; and Joe Baldino, 200.

Grover Lumber replaced Nassau Delicatessen in a two-way deadlock with Tiger Garage for first place in the Nassau League. The leaders, with 52 points apiece, are four ahead of Nassau Delicatessen.

Dave Burrough edged Val Ranallo, 209-207, for scoring honors. Bill Wbatley rolled a 203 and Bob Sculerati bowled a 202 for the only other 200-plus games. Narrowly missing the mark were Frank Sannino, 198; Nick Sculerati, 197; Walt Wengryn, 196; Bill Parke, 194; and Gib Ireland, 193.

A 642 series by Mike Basile highlighted play in the Three-Man Classic League as Colonial Restaurant doubled its lead to six games. Colonial, with 26 victories, is six games ahead of Johnson Electric and seven in front of Turney Motors.

Basile's individual games were 203, 206 and 233. Other stand out performances were turned in by Val Ranallo, 225 and 212; Joe Ruberto, a 195-203-221-619 series; Larry Golden, 215; and Bill Cavanaugh, 212.

Hook and Ladder H registered a three-game sweep in the Tri-County Firemen's League to move eight points ahead of Rocky Hill and nine in front of Kingston. A 212 game by Art Parr was the top score of the week. He was followed by Mel Tindall and Carmine Panicaro, 208 apiece; Stan Tantum, 207; Bruce Rittenhouse, 205; Wally Brown, 203; and Dave Wilbur, 202.

Jefferson Plumbing increased its lead in the Business Women's League to eight points over Nassau Shoe Repair and ten over Claridge Wine and Liquor. Margaret Drummond took scoring honors with a 164 game, one pin better than Evelyn Walton, who bowled 163 twice, and two more than Gladys Millar's best effort, a 162.

Applegate Floral Shop picked up six points in the Women's League to increase its lead to 14 points over The Five Friends. The leaders have a total of 87 points.

Joyce Dix was the scoring leader with a 194 contest. She was followed by Sara Rose and Marilyn Murphy, 178 each; Elizabeth Brown, 176; Mary Klerik, 173; Janet Braun, Jan-

RUTGERS FOURTH VICTIM

Tigers Coast, 79 to 50. A young Rutgers basketball team, playing without its injured captain, was no match for Princeton Tuesday night, the Tigers breaking away from a short-lived deficit to move easily to their fourth victory in five games.

After taking a 34-27 lead at the intermission, the home team soon built its advantage to 15 and then 20 points. The 79-50 final went into the books as the Orange and Black's 50th victory in the series, launched in the war-time year of 1917.

Bill Bradley cast himself increasingly in the role of playmaker, feeding his teammates time and again rather than shooting himself. A number of his assists were spectacular, one eye-catching feel to Bob Haarlow following a fast-break drawing an ovation from the 2500 spectators.

The Tigers' star had a 21-point evening, pulling Haarlow into double figures with him as the sophomore forward collected 16. Bob Rodenbach, another player in his first year on the varsity, continued to imoress with his accuracy as he came off the bench late in the first half and made a dozen points before leaving the game.

TIGERS LOSE AT BOSTON

Skaters Beaten, 7 to 0. The Princeton hockey team suffered its first shutout of the season Tuesday night when it was blanked by Boston College, 7 to 0, on the Eagles' home ice.

B.C., ranked among the top five teams in the east, had matters its own way throughout the contest. Princeton had a number of shots on target in each period hut could not dent the victors' solid defense.

PHS IS JOLTED, 44-33

By Franklin. Tuesday's home opener for the Princeton High School basketball team was a disappointing one. Guilty of desultory, uninspired play, the Little Tigers were upset, 44-33.

Coach Tony Borzok summed it up well after the game: "You can't expect to win ball games when you look like you're carrying 100 pounds on your back. I don't think our kids wanted it," he continued. "I tbink Franklin had it all the way."

With neither team particularly hot in its shooting—PHS made just 30% of the 47 sbots it attempted, only 18 percent in the second half — the game was decided under the boards. And it was here that the taller Blue and White squad had the advantage but failed to grab it.

In all, the losers garnered only 10 offensive rebounds in the entire game, just three in the second half. "Franklin was jumping as if its players were standing on hot coals, but we weren't," said Tony.

St. Paul's In Upset

St. Paul's School basketball team upset highly-touted St. Mary's of the Assumption by the slim margin of one point here Sunday in a contest in the Mercer County Grammar School Basketball League. The Trenton school had not lost in two years.

With only four seconds to play, Mike Maguire, sixth grader from St. Paul's scooped up a free ball and drove in for the winning two points, making it a 24-23 final. St. Mary's had possession but Tim Kearns tied up the Trenton player and the ball rolled free.

Entering the game with an unimpressive 2-3 record, the surprising St. Paul's team managed to hold a slim lead throughout the game. At the three quarter mark, it lead 18-14, but St. Mary's rallied to go ahead 23-22. Members of the St. Paul's team are Mike Maguire, Jerry Fiabane, Fred Leuper, Italio Procaccino and Tim Kearns. Maguire and Fiabane were high with six points apiece.

Princeton moved out to a 13-9 lead in the first period, the only one in which it was to score more than nine points. After the Warriors had pulled to a 30-27 margin at the end of three periods, PHS could muster only six points in the final eight minutes of play. These were baskets by Jimmy Case and Kerry Klink and two free throws by Klink. Case and Co-Captain Dave Hill led the PHS attack — what little there was — with seven points each.

YMCA LISTS PROGRAM

For Holiday Basketball. The Princeton YMCA will conduct its third annual boys' basketball program during the Christmas holidays at the Princeton High School gymnasium.

Larry Ivan will direct the program which will be held from 1 to 3 on December 23, 27 and 30 at the gym. All teenage boys in the Princeton area are invited.

Topics Of The Town

HOSPITAL'S CHRISTMAS To Be A "Family Affair." Christmas at Princeton Hospital this year will be made as much of a family affair as possible, with relaxation of visiting rules to permit visitors at any time during the day. Children, too, will be allowed to visit a hospitalized member of the family if the patient's doctor gives his approval.

Special Christmas menus, tray favors, gifts for adult patients and toys for hospitalized children will help mark the day. There will be lighted trees on every nursing unit, and individual departments will be specially decorated.

Many young people have been busy making gifts and decorations for the patients' benefit. A group of students at the Witherspoon School, working under the Junior Red Cross Council teacher-sponsor, Mrs. T. Morgan Harris, has decorated a seven-foot artificial tree for the hospital with hand-made decorations.

Wreaths, Santas and other decorative pieces have been given to the hospital by the Wyman Club of Princeton University. Door sprays and wreaths of natural greens have been made by the Lawrenceville Garden Club.

Junior Girl Scouts of Troop 61 in Montgomery Township have made new toys and refurbished old ones for children in pediatrics and patients in the hospital's pediatric clinics. Members of the Mary Ellen Assembly 51, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, have filled stockings for young patients.

Two groups from South Brunswick High School, the Future Nurses Club and the Nurses Club, have made stuffed toys, other gifts, felt stockings and a small artificial tree. Place mats for the children's trays have been made by Princeton's Brownie Troop 6.

Continuing the custom he started when he came to Princeton Hospital in 1946, Administrator John W. Kauffman will visit every patient in the hospital and resident of Merwick and will present to each one a Christmas gift and a copy of the Christmas issue of "Broadcast," the hospital's monthly publication.

Mr. Kauffman will be accompanied on his visits by Nathanial J. McKee, assistant administrator, and Miss Jean A. Alito, administrator of nursing services.

MUSIC
In Princeton

(The following review was written for TOWN TOPICS by Peter G. Cook of Kingston, artist and musician.)

MOZART AT McCARTER

Played by Princeton Symphony. The Princeton Symphony Orchestra presented two works by Mozart that, by complement and contrast, showed the extraordinary range of that composer's expression. A capacity audience attended Monday's concert in McCarter.

The first piece, Concerto in G. Minor for Flute and Orchestra, K 313 makes no pretensions to grandeur. It is similar to several other concerti for solo instrument and orchestra, calling for virtuoso performer with accompaniment.

The soloist in this ease, Julius Baker, brought to this performance an ease that can only come through years of mastery of the instrument. The exceptional clarity of his tone was evident throughout.

He never seemed to hurry or drag, each note being given its due. It's the kind of Mozart of the noble palace, the satin and brocade, powdered wigs, minuets—that sort of thing—lovely in its elegance and at the same time deceptively exacting in its simplicity.

The C Minor Mass is quite another thing. Musically complicated and frankly demanding in range and power, the work reaches for the grand heights, and uses about everything—full orchestra, divided choruses, solos, trios, quartets, obligatos, and so on. The Westminster Symphonic Choir provided the chorus with solo parts sung by Janice Harsanyi and Doris Yarick, sopranos; David Bender, tenor; and Raymond Kyser, baritone.

The Westminster Choir must be considered one of the finest of its kind anywhere. What a treat it is to hear a chorus of this size (about 150 voices) which can sound as one voice, or a multitude; can shake the rafters, or seem still and small like a summer dawn!

Mrs. Harsanyi Pleases. The first soprano was sung by Janice Harsanyi as a last-minute substitute for the ailing Miss Marshall. It's hard to see how it could have been done better.

Mrs. Harsanyi sang the very demanding part with a most fascinating mixture of technical ease and emotional involvement. Her voice may not be of Wagnerian power, but it can fill McCarter with ease—no small accomplishment. She does it with brilliance, control, and a lovely resonnance that is her own special gift.

In fact it is hard to think how the Mass could have been better done by anyone, unless perhaps it could have been set in a Baroque cathedral instead of McCarter.

One comes away from such an evening with a peculiar sense of gratification in that our Symphony can produce a program of this calibre. The orchestra is the ideal size for accompaniment of virtuoso soloists, and also big enough to fill the bill for the Mass. It cannot have the impressive volume of the larger orchestras like the Boston and Philadelphia, but it can produce music of the finest quality. Once again it has been proven that the orchestra, under the inspiring direction of Nicholas Harsanyi, deserves our wholehearted admiration.

TONIGHT: OPERA

Scenes to be Sung. Workshop singers who belong to the Princeton Opera Association will appear in a program of scenes from historically important operas, to be given this Thursday at 8.30 in the First Presbyterian Church. The public is invited to attend.

Composers represented will he Mozart, with scenes from "Cosi Fan Tutte," "Don Giovanni" and "The Marriage of Figaro;" Gounod, with the Church Scene from "Faust" and Bizet, with the Card Scene from "Carmen."

Excerpts from Carlisle Floyd's "Susannah" and Gian Carlo Menotti's "Old Maid and the Thief" are the contemporary representatives.

Singers will be Mary Lynne Bird, Virginia Cole, Mary Ecroyd, Laura Hayes, Anne Hoffmann, Ruth Mattern, Muriel Long, Lola Scott, Robert Hartman, Isnley Pyne and Woodward Waesche. James Waters will be the assisting pianist.

INTERESTING POSITION

OPEN SOON

TOWN TOPICS will have a position in its Advertising Department open early in 1964. Duties involve planning display advertisements with Princeton area merchants, including copy-writing and layout. Previous experience helpful but not essential—if we feel you have the right qualities and you like working "on the outside" with people, we will train you.

This is not a "9 to 5" job—hours will vary depending on day of the week. Compensation ranges from time off for extra hours worked to steady salary increases based on performance, annual bonuses and participation in company profit-sharing plan.

Applicants should write rather than call, giving brief resume on employment and biographical facts; marital status, date of availability and salary requirements. We are interested in discussing the position with both men and women.

This quote from Henry Van Dyke's writings, was suggested for Christmas: "Are you willing to forget what you have done for other people, and to remember what other people have done for you; to ignore what the world owes you, and to think what you owe the world; to put your rights in the background and your duty in the foreground; to see that your fellow men are just as real as you are, and to try and look behind their faces and their hearts, hungry for joy; to admit that probably the only good reason for your existence is not life, but what you are going to give to life; to close your book of complaints against the management of the universe, and look around for a place where you can sow a few seeds of happiness . . . are you willing to do these things even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas. — Henry Van Dyke" We sincerely wish YOU a wonderful Christmastide! Kammler Buick -Pontiac Co., Route 206, opposite Princeton Airport, WA 1-2222.

WE NOMINATE

Martin B. Duberman, brilliant, 33-year old historian, whose driving interest "in living history and in what can be learned from events gone by," has been responsible for one of the major successes of the current off-Broadway season, the highly compelling "In White America," a portrayal of the history of the Negro in these United States. In blending together an amalgam of source materials, ranging in time from 17th century slave ships to last August's "March on Washington" and Martin Luther King's "I Had a Dream," this versatile scholar-dramatist has produced a work currently being boomed for cross-the-nation tours, including a McCarter Theater stop-over in mid-January.

Success in the sense of recognition by qualified critics is not new for Duberman, in his second winter as a Princetonian and a Bicentennial Preceptor in the University's Department of History. While his initial attempt at a full-scale stage production, a drama about Elijah Lovejoy, an "Abolitionist Martyr" in the 1830's, fell short of the mark, his first book, a definitive biography of Charles Francis Adams, Lincoln's Federal Minister to Great Britain during the Civil War, carried off Columbia University's $1,000 Bancroft Award in 1962 in the field of American history and was hailed by "The New York Times" as "a certain candidate for Pulitzer laurels."

The impact of "In White America," representing long months of research that ended with 1,000 double-spaced typewritten pages of notes, is reflected in the reaction of a skilled Manhattan observer. Duberman's show "consists of words he has culled from history, words from the mouths of great men, of former slaves, of a Scottsboro boy; words that trace the story of the Negro in America from the auction-block-hound slavers to Little Rock. The words are true words, and, unlike so many words created by the geniuses of fiction, they ring true on-stage."

Immersed in 19th Century America and deeply concerned with the advancement of human rights, Duberman, a native of Manhattan with an unusual grasp of the emotionalism of the Old South, was led into this venture by his students' lack of knowledge of the Negro's role in American history. When recently queried about "Why a play as opposed to a scholarly volume?", he put it well: "We don't pay enough attention to language's evocative power, its power to stir people. I put this into stage form because language is most evocative when spoken. I want people to feel the story of the Negro as well as to understand it."

Duberman, a graduate of the Horace Mann School, New York, and as a high school upperclassman smitten with "theatricals," was graduated from Yale with the Class of 1952 and earned his advanced degrees at Harvard where he served for two years as a Teaching Fellow. Five years as a Yale instructor and assistant professor preceded his appointment to the Princeton faculty. The immediate future, with the year's leave of absence provided by his Bicentennial Preceptorship, will be largely given over to a biography of James Russell Lowell and conceivably to another play.

For his forceful handling of a significant "message" without "bludgeoning the audience"; for his remarkable contribution to the public's understanding of what has been called "the revolution of our time"; for his marked promise as teacher, historian and playwright; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as
